U. S. TO CONVERT HOMES IN MARION FOR WAR WORKERS

Many Residences To Be Leased and Turned Into Multiple Units at Government Expense.

The federal government is going to convert Marion and possibly hundreds of them, into multiple housing units for war workers.

Expenses of the remodeling will be borne by the government.

First steps in meeting the critical housing shortage in Marion are expected to be taken in two weeks by turning of a Marion resident as local manager of program, a voluntary project in which Marion citizens may further their effort by providing extra housing space for those who will pour into the community in coming months.

Marion Engineer Dept. here yesterday was the center of the National Housing Conference meeting with Mayor. On committee were D. C. Braun, field representative of the regional office; Col. John Cuno, Col. Captain Hawley, manpower branch supply of the Army, and presented to the committee in a meeting held yesterday in the office of Mayor

Leaves on improved properties are made in the name of the United States of America.

2. The government will advance all costs of conversion and regain such costs from the rents charged occupants.

3. At the expiration of the lease the owner will get back his property, with all improvements. The portion, if any, of the cost of such improvements which has not been repaid at the time of the return will not be charged against the owner.

4. The government guarantees to the owner the payment of the same rent independently of whether the government is successful in keeping the project fully occupied.

5. The government assumes responsibility for the management of the property.

6. The government will collect all rents from tenants.

7. The government assumes responsibility for the maintenance and repair of the property.

8. The government assumes responsibility for furnishing heat and other utilities.

9. The government will exercise care that the property remains adaptable to future use by the owner.

10. The government assumes responsibility for paying the estimated cost of taxes, insurance and debt service, to be deducted from rental payment to the owner.

11. The government will not reduce the rent paid to the owner because of unexpected increases in taxes, insurance, or similar carrying charges.

12. The government may employ the owner as janitor or for

KILLED 200 JAPS ON GUADALCANAL

Marine Private Albert Schmid of Philadelphia, 22 (in bed), recounts his battle at Guadalcanal against a Japanese contingent which attempted to cross the Tenaru river last Aug. 21. Handing a blistering hot machine gun he killed 200 of the advancing Japs before one of them managed to toss a hand grenade which exploded in his face, blinding one eye. He is shown at a San Diego, Calif., hospital where he is recuperating. At right is Corporal Leroy Diamond of New York City who fed Schmid's gun with ammunition until being wounded. (Phonephoto)

C. E. HENNEY, DEAN OF DRUGGISTS, DIES

Member of Henney & Cooper Firm Taken by Death.

Clarence E. Henney, 81, senior member of the firm of Henney & Cooper, Inc., and one of the oldest druggists in the state, died at 8:45 o'clock last night in his home at 554 Delaware avenue, following an illness of five weeks. His death closes a partnership with James G. Cooper, begun in 1900 at McComb, and brings to an end the career of Marion's dear old druggist.

BITTER FIGHTING RENEWED IN RUSSIA

Reds Kill 300 Germans in New Caucasus Battle.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 — The Soviet quiet which enveloped the long Russian front for three days was broken yesterday southeast of Nalchik where, the Soviet mid-day communiqué said, violent fighting was in progress throughout the day and 300 Germans were killed.

In the thick of the fight when the Americans launched the offensive in the Solomons on Aug. 7, Moore got his first Jap plane, a Zero. On Aug. 17 he shot down two planes, one fighter and one four-engine bomber.

"Those Zeros are made out of bamboo and are really fast," he said.

Moore related that it was a tough job to pull the trigger on his first Jap victim. "I hated to do it, but finally got up the courage. After that it was easy. In fact, my fingers itch to pull the trigger on the Japs now."

MEN SOUGHT FOR NAVAL COMMISSIONS

Procurement Division Hand-lining Job Openings.

Ensign Paul Van Antwerp, of the Naval procurement office in Detroit was in Marion this week in connection with the Navy's spending up of selection of men with supervisory construction experience for commissions and warrant officers.

Men not over 30 years of age, with extensive experience in the road and bridge and heavy building construction fields, both with or without college degrees are in demand, he said. Applicants will be interviewed in the office procurement office at the old post office building in Columbus. An interviewing officer from Detroit will be in the office six days a week.

Ensign Van Antwerp also discussed the newly accelerated officer training program the Navy is offering to college graduates not over 25 years of age who desire to become commissioned officers in a special year-and-a-half shipmen's class. The special school will start not later than Jan. 1 and will consist of 12 months indoctrination as apprentice seamen and three months training as midshipmen.

Couple Exchange Vows at Galion Parsonage

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 11.—The personnel of the First Methodist church was the scene Monday of a quiet wedding when Helen A. Benbow and Lieut. Edward E. Veulua were joined in marriage by Rev. W. M. Robertson, pastor of the church. The single ring service was attended by Ruth Crater as maid of honor.

Mrs. Veulua is a graduate of Galion High school with the class of 1937 and has been employed as secretary at the Galion Inquirer office. She is the daughter of Mrs. Myra Benbow. Following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip. Lieut. Veulua, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Veulua of Urhicks, was graduated from the Camp Davis, Hollyridge, N. C. officers' training school and received his commission as second Lieutenant in the Night artillery Nov. 5. Lieut. Veulua came to Galion in 1941 as merchandising representative of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company. He attended Ohio State university.

Mrs. Ruth Evans, of Youngstown, department inspector, was guest when members of the Women's Relief Corps met Tuesday. Prior to the afternoon's meeting a luncheon honoring Mrs. Evans and three other guests, Mrs. Bertha Church, junior vice-president; Mrs. Ned Davis and Mrs. Ruth Buchanan, all of Mt. Vernon, was held at the United Brethren church.

This Is Your Fight What You Can Do To Help Win It

No. 9—The Navy

THE United States Navy is an organization of experts. Almost every man is trained to become a specialist in his specific job. If you have had previous training or experience in a trade when you enlist, you will be given a chance to continue in the same type of work.

If you have not had previous experience you may qualify for training under skilled Navy instructors for the kind of job for which you are best fitted.

There are seven branches of naval service for enlisted men comprising 46 different classes of jobs or ratings. The men who hold these ratings are known as petty officers.

There are four grades of petty officers—third class, second class, first class and chief—through which men may advance according to his skill and experience.

Most men enlist as apprentice seaman. As such, you are automatically promoted with increase in pay after two months of preliminary training. Thereafter you may advance through training or sea duty as rapidly as your ability permits.

Men who qualify by reason of special training or experience in a trade may become petty officers in their particular specialty, provided there is a vacancy, immediately upon enrollment.

General Requirements

Men 17 to 31 may enlist in the regular Navy. Men 17 to 50 are accepted in the naval reserve. You must pass a physical examination. Naval reserve requirements are less strict than the regular Navy's.

You can qualify for enlistment with combined vision (both eyes) of 16-20 and not less than 6-20 in worst eye. Aviation applicants must have "perfect normal vision."

The reserve usually requires 12-20 correctible to 20-20.

Except for a few ratings, there are no specific educational or mental requirements. You will take a simple intelligence test to show ability to write, read and think clearly.

Aviation applicants must be between 18 and 27 and high school graduates. All Navy enlistment applicants under 21 must have the consent of their parents. All must be citizens of the United States.

Married men 17 to 31 may enlist in the Navy or naval reserve. Men accepting enlisted commissions in the Navy or naval reserve must be citizens of U. S. Females meeting mathematics requirements (ship officers), qualified for enlisting commissions in training.

All enlisted men receive $50 a month. Your base pay increases five per cent after each three year period of service up to a maximum increase of 50 per cent. Full dependency allowances, insurance and other privileges are open to men in any of the branches. Enlisted men receive all clothing, food and medical care. Commissioned officers buy their own uniforms but receive an initial allowance.

Specialist ratings, service as a parachutist, submarine duty and use of arms qualify you for higher pay. Men in the navy receive the best of mechanical training in their various branches.

Women in Service

Women wishing to enlist in the WAVES, naval auxiliary, must apply to the Director of Naval Officer Procurement Board of Trade Building, Chicago, Ill., stating age, education, marital status and if married, occupation of husband and ages of children. They will be trained as yeomen, stenographers and radio operators and receive pay granted those ratings.

Women qualified by education and technical experience also may apply for specialist commissions. They would be assigned to specialist shore duty.

National Poll Indicates Success in Scrap Drive

GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute of Public Opinion

PHILADELPHIA, N. J., Nov. 11—All people to date indicates that the scrap metal drive has been a success.

A poll completed this week discloses that 90 per cent of every five Americans families have either given scrap to the war effort or had no scrap to give.

Only about one in five still has scrap to be collected or taken to scrap depots. Of the 21 per cent who say they still have scrap which they could give to the government, more than half have already been contacted by their local committees. Only one in ten of those having scrap to contribute has not yet been called upon by local scrap committees.

3,000,000 Tons.

Using the WPB estimate of 220 pounds of scrap available per family in the country, the Institute estimated that the scrap metal drive succeeded in rounding up upwards of 3,000,000 tons from American homes. WPB estimated there were about 3,500,000 tons available in the homes.

It should be emphasized that this
metals collected.

It should be emphasized that this
metals collected.

A report issued by the National Committee Newspapers United Scrap Metal Drive on Oct. 30, showed the pickup estimated at more than 5,000,000 tons, including industrial scrap. Others have estimated the total pickup even higher.

Furthermore, many of the local scrap drives did not start when the national drive got under way and, consequently, may have completed their collections since the Institute study was made.

Nationwide Survey

The survey was conducted throughout the country in order to help scrap committees gauge the extent of the job still to be done.
Following is the question put to a cross-section of the population by field reporters:

"Is there any scrap metal left around your home or place

CIVILIAN BEEF SUPPLY IN FAVOR OF FIGHTERS

OPA Orders Reduction Effective Immediately.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—If you bought three steaks a month last year, you're now entitled to only two and the extra one goes to the armed forces or to our allies abroad.

That's the edict of the office of price administration under the terms of a new cut in civilian beef allowances effective immediately to make certain the men fighting this war "have all the meat they require."

Deputy Administrator Paul M.
Oliver announced the order reducing by a further 10 per cent the amount of beef slaughterers may put on the market for civilians in the Oct. 1-Dec. 31, quarter. This brought deliveries down to 70 per cent of the amount sold in the same quarter of 1941.

At the same time, the OPA forbade slaughterers from exceeding their quotas by 10 per cent in any quarter with the privilege of chopping that amount off the quotas for the following period.
Those who have already exceeded the 70 per cent figure for this quarter must stop deliveries for civilian use for the remainder of the year.

Quotas for veal, 100 per cent of 1941 deliveries, lamb and mutton, 85 per cent, and pork, 75 per cent, were left unchanged.

Boot Applications To Be Handled by Mail

Application for rationing certificates authorizing purchase of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes may be handled enti-tely by mail, Edgar W. Barnhart, chairman of the Marion county War Price and Ration Board said today.

Where the board approves an application, the certificate may be mailed by the board to the prospective purchaser at his request.

However, he said that the board reserves the right to have the applicant appear in person if it wishes to question him.

This provision has been made to take care of applicants who live in out-of-the-way places or whose working hours are such that getting to the board's offices would be an inconvenience, Mr.
Barnhart said.

expressed hope that working

Everybody Wanted Peace

ON THE FIRST Armistice day in 1918 everybody wanted peace.

The war had dragged on too long. Fighting had become a grueling, weary duty being performed without benefit of elation. Men and nations were exhausted.

There seemed nothing to gain by waging themselves to a point of complete collapse. The people were restless. The fighting men were beginning to mutter and show signs of revolt.

So there was an armistice.

But what happened thereafter was not peace. It was not even a cessation of war, except that the big guns no longer rumbled and flashed on the horizon. It was merely another way of fighting, as when animals crouch and glare at each other quietly before springing in for the kill.

Still because everybody had wanted peace, that is what the source of fighting was called—peace.

In Germany, there were warriors who used it to nurse their wounds and prepare for a day of revenge when the mistakes that they had made once would not be repeated. And there was a vengeful man named Adolf Hitler, a communist soldier, who used the armistice to plan a campaign of hate that would give him power to bend his own country and others to his personal will.

In France, a clique of politicians used the armistice to scheme for their own aggrandizement by playing on the confusion of men and women whose existence had become so disordered that they demanded nothing of government but expediency, the only thing the politicians knew how to give them.

In Russia, the armistice was used to stage a revolution that raised to power a new kind of government whose leaders knew could be maintained ultimately only by force of arms against the opposition of the other kinds of government it was pledged to destroy whenever they showed weakness.

In Italy, the armistice was a chance to organize a surging spirit of nationalism which had been disappointed by the outcome of the war. A new leader, Benito Mussolini—another thwarted soldier like Hitler—offered much and showed promise of raising Italy's prestige in the family of nations by utilizing Italian resources for the creation of greater military power.

In Japan, which had never really been in the war, a coterie of militant nationalists who had taken the example of the great powers to heart, began to lay the groundwork of a campaign to expand their own and Japan's prestige by force of arms when the proper time should come.

In the United States, where it was believed the war had been fought to end wars, there was pathetic confusion between what had been a good intention but had turned out to be an unsatisfactory result. The armistice was used to accelerate the exploitation of great natural resources that the war had revealed as being even more important than they were known to be previously. Always with a thought to its good intentions, the United States continued to pay lip service to the ideal of peace, oblivious of the fact that nations without the same intentions were using the armistice to prepare for a resumption of war.

In Great Britain, the armistice was an urgently needed interval of security in which to argue out the pressing problems created by the new circumstances of empire management, such as the emergence of the United States and Japan as major powers competing for markets and naval supremacy.

In dozens of lesser nations caught between the upper and nether millstones of international pressure politics, the armistice was an interim for the materialization of hopes and fears that lay beyond their power to control. They had wanted to believe the League of Nations might reduce their perennial helplessness as pawns of the major powers, but they gradually realized that the promise of international law was being shattered by the preparations to resume the war.

There will be another armistice day, and there will be another war unless the universal will of the people for peace becomes the guiding principle of all governments when this war has exhausted the belligerents.

News Behind the News

Careful Planning and Element of Surprise Seen in North African Campaign.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The North African venture was won by meticulous planning, bold, daring Nazis and Virgil Pinne's commando outfit.

For a few days before the blow fell, U. S. radio had been noting the presence of British warships in the Gibraltar-Bragg Strait, 100 miles to the south and numbers. Only 24 hours, however, did the British begin to realize immediately the presence of Americans there.

The British warships had sailed up in front of the Nazis, spied in Spain with their eyes to prevent activities which held Nazi attention. And our armada slipped through Gibraltar mostly at night, undetected.

When Vichy, Rome and Berlin learned the plan it was too late for them to do much. Reconnaissances would have to be organized first, then a strike Mediterranean and, by this time, we were in possession of Tunis. A good part of the British fleet was passing around off the shores of Tunis and Tripoli, to make that even more difficult.

Big Job of Planning

This grand de option was amazing you, consider the vast amount of planning and organization which went into preparation. A large number of people had to be in on the plan.

For me some thought until the last minute we were going into Tunis, as the Nazis had said, but I wouldn't know of the elaborate, well-organized propaganda and international political preparations which enabled us to drop leaflets over France, planes over North African airfields, troops onto beaches, diplomats into the various European chancelleries at the same moment.

The move was organized even down to arranging for the Brazilian ambassador in Portugal to arrive at the Lisbon Foreign office in time with diplomatic neutrality of our intentions.

It may have seemed to some that we had to blow in explanations and assurances to Petain and Vichy, in an attempt to justify our actions. The facts of the war justified the campaign. An enemy is an enemy wherever found, and a formerly friendly nation in captivity is not due many explanations.

Authorities here, however, thought they were addressing their message, not to Petain whose name was at the top of them, but to the French people.

Next Step

This success simply means we have, of soon will have, Africa and the Mediterranean—all of both, the whole north African shoreline and everything that lies beneath it and control of the waves of Rome's Mare Nostrum.

Five G. O. P. Vote Getters Seen as Presidential Prospects.

As a result of a sweep victory in the elections, G.O.P. leaders are looking forward to the big fight—the 1944 presidential race. Here, in alphabetical order, are five Republicans whose vote-getting successors put them in the opinion of Washington observers, in the running for the presidential nomination:

JOHN WILLIAM BRICKER, 49, elected for a third term as Ohio's governor. A lawyer, he was state attorney general, a member of the public utilities commission, attorney general before serving his first term as governor in 1939. Urged to seek the presidential nomination in 1940, he threw his support instead to Senator Robert A. Taft. A first lieutenant in World War I, he is married, has one son.

THOMAS EDMUND DEWEY, 40, broke Democrats' 20-year hold on governors' mans in Albany. Son of a newspaper editor, Dewey was born in Owosso, Mich. He won fame as a special prosecutor investigating New York's organized crime, sent big-game gangsters to jail. Elected district attorney in 1937, he ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1938, unsuccessfully for presidential nomination in 1940. Married, he has two children.

HENRY CABOT LODGE JR., 40, reelected a second time as U. S. senator from Massachusetts. Harvard graduate, he was newspaperman, then member of the Massachusetts general court for three years. As army major, he saw action with tank units this year in Egypt. He is married, father of two sons.

LEVERETT SALTONSTALL, 50, Harvard graduate, comes of a distinguished family. Son of a lieutenant in World War I, he began his career as a lawyer. He served as assistant district attorney of Middlesex county, Massachusetts, as a Newton alderman, member of the Massachusetts Senate.

SALTONSTALL house of representatives. B. A. State governor since 1939, he has just been reelected. He is married, has five children.

Parachute Troops of Marines Lead Eventful Lives.

By JAMES T. CARTER
Associated Press Writer

U. S. MARINE BASE, NEW RIVER, N. C., Nov. 11.—Not a cloud marred the blue of the Carolina sky through which the big transport plane was roaring and, except for the port propeller's shriek whirling past the open door, hardly a breeze was stirring.

Howard Clegg was reelected master of Progressive grade.

Announcement was made that Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams of near Marion had been reappointed to their fourth consecutive terms as deputy grade master and matron of Marion county.

Mrs. Burl Melvin entertained the Mayflower club at a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home in Hickman.

Conditioning exercises will equip girls for strenuous war jobs and as community recreation leaders to uphold civilian morale. The program includes buck, Danish gymnastics, which require neither supervision nor equipment.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Nov. 11, 1922. A Washington dispatch reported that former President Woodrow Wilson was sharing actively in the hopes and plans of Democratic leaders still loyal to him for the election of a Democratic president in 1924 who would be representative of his theories of government. He expressed his hopes in a letter sent from his sickbed at his home in Washington to Senator Caraway of Arkansas.

It was announced that effective Nov. 16 the Kent and Cincinnati divisions of the Erie railroad would be merged under the name of the Kent division. Harry A. Adams, then superintendent of the Kent division, was to be in charge of the merged units as superintendent.

Gen. John J. Pershing, in an Armistice day address before the National Civic Federation of New York City, advocated that this country maintain an adequate force so as to be prepared for any military emergency.

Howard Allen, who was attending Oberlin college, was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen of East Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baldinger of Canton were guests of Mrs. Baldinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Obern of Windsor street.

A daughter was born at the Marion City hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ault of Mt. Gildead.

Armistice day was observed in Marion with a program at St. Mary's M. E. church, Gen. Edward Vollrath of Bucyrus, giving the principal address. Grant E. Mouser Jr., commander of Bird-McGinnis post of the American Legion, gave a talk introducing Gen. Vollrath.

The Turps

Some Living Room Furniture Salesmen Take Themselves Too Seriously and Crack Up.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:
DEAR SIR: Last night my wife Ethel was setting home and I had to wait for supper and she was Joe. I'm terribly sorry my mom's went for me in a hurry this afternoon and I had to go over to her place and help her with my pops. He got himself all scuffed up. Then I had to go to the Carmichael house again to help her with Master Carmichael. He got himself all scuffed up to. I see there were those old guys pushing each other around about something. Ethel sees and I see they ought to be ashamed of themselves mixing it at their ages. She sees why Joe it was just an accident and there was nothing to be ashamed of. They were cracking each other now they would fight the war. Master Armstrong was in it too only he did not get scuffed up like the other two.

I see well they must have got sore at one another if there was some scrapping up and Ethel sees so they were not sore at all. The only one who is sore is my momma. Joe was ready fit to be tied when I got there. He was the fortior it when she saw how bad my pops was scuffed up. I am afraid he has a very bad leg and his face is a sight but he claims no show that his idea of fighting the war was the best of all. He sees he showed that a blank movement that was a lie. That is what I see where were they Ethel? She sees my momma living room and they had the whole house full of pipe smoke and the smell of their beers. My pops sees we ought to have a second front over there and the others see it couldn't be done so he arranged the chairs in the living room and the tables and the sofa to represent different places on the map and soldiers and tanks and then he began running through them to show just how his plan would work if he was bossing the war.

But Master Carmichael and Mister Armstrong began running through the chairs and the tables and other things to show they would stop me pops plan and pretty soon they get to scuffling and when my momma got there they were all on the floor and mixed in with the furniture and really scuffed up. My momma sees she was half an hour getting them untangled. She sees it was worse than the time my pops used the furniture to explain a football game. He always uses the furniture to explain things to us when we say the landing is the toughest part!

To the rest of the marine corps, the paramarines are the glamor boys of the outfit, and I found, as far as their courage goes, that they live up to their nickname.

Captain Cheever and the rest of the paramarines I talked to were agreed on the reason they chose that branch of service, which is done solely on a volunteer basis.

Never Boredome.

"It's something new all the time," they said. "Parachute jumping never gets to be a bore. There's different air currents to contend with each time, and different ground conditions for every jump."

The ones who back out are few and far between, I learned, and those who complete the course and eventually get into active combat duty, making jumps behind enemy lines, can not be beat for sheer bravery and courage.

Such are the parachute troops of the U. S. Marines.

You'll be reading about their exploits later when they leave New River for the world's battlefronts and use the training they received here to swarm out of the sky and help crush the axis.

"More than two years ago committees were set up through the National Research Council to work out plans for medical defense. Members of the faculties of the leading universities served on these committees and a great deal of research has been carried out in the universities.

For example, Dr. Phemister cited intensive studies of such problems as methods of treating shock and the prevention of infections with sulfa drugs.

Dr. Phemister asserted nearly half of the country's 150,000 practicing physicians will be enlisted.

SWIFT SENATE OK OF DRAFT BILL SEEN

Approval Expected Tomorrow After House Acts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—Administration leaders expect swift Senate approval tomorrow of the teen-age draft bill, stripped of a controversial clause which would have required a full year's training before a soldier under 20 could be sent abroad to fight.

With a minimum of debate the house shouted its approval of the revised bill yesterday after a joint conference committee had eliminated the year's training amendment. The general staff contended the proviso, inserted by the Senate, would prevent the most efficient use of the 18 and 19 year olds who would be subject to induction under the bill.

The Senate adopted the training provision on Oct. 24-25 to 31—26 members either absent or not voting. With elections out of the way and popular enthusiasm aroused by American successes in North Africa, leaders believed the vote could be reversed with ease.

The bill, as finally accepted by the house, provides that necessary farm workers, regularly employed, shall be deferred from induction as long as they remain on the farm and "until such time as a satisfactory replacement can be obtained."

High school students of 18 and 19 called up during the last half of the academic year would be eligible for deferment until the end of the semester. Men who had reached their 24th birthday could not be drafted without their consent.

The compromise measure struck out a house provision under which all single men in a given state would have to be called up before any married men could be taken.

Since the supply of 1-A registrants is running low in almost all local draft boards, the youngsters are expected to be called up soon after the bill's passage. Married men who already have received notices to report for physical examination probably will not be affected by the age reduction, however, since November and December draft quotas must be met and from 30 to 40 days will be required to process the new men.

Armistice Day

Picture in Europe

LONDON, Nov. 11—Armistice day was "just another day" for United States troops in Britain and the British generally let the day pass unobserved, but for the fighting French it was a day of new pain and new hope.

The Fighting French organization in London had asked the people of the homeland to note the day with a hush and a prayer.

Frenchmen in the unoccupied zone had been asked to avoid provoking the gestapo and the police but pay honor to the dead of that first World war at various memorials.

Today there was no unoccupied zone. The German army was moving into the provinces of that part of France once called free.

The Moscow radio reported that pro-Nazi demonstrations had broken out yesterday at Toulon, the home of what is left of the French fleet. Parisians, it was reported, were shouting "down with the Hitlerites" as the news of the occupation of North Africa by United States troops raised new hopes of liberation.

King George VI laid a wreath of poppies at the cenotaph, Britain's memorial to her war dead in London.

President Honors World War I Dead at Arlington Today

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—President Roosevelt, honoring the dead of past wars on this Armistice day, declared at Arlington national cemetery today that the German Nazis and their "appreciate associates, the Japanese," face "inevitable final defeat."

"The forces of liberation are advancing," the Chief Executive asserted, adding that the opponents of decency and justice have passed their peak."

Mr. Roosevelt made this forecast of allied victory after placing a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier of World War I. Looking on was America's 82-year-old leader-hero of that conflict, General John J. Pershing.

In speaking at the cemetery which is the burial place of thousands of dead of past wars, the President followed a routine of more peaceful years.

Referring to recent war developments, Mr. Roosevelt said the United Nations were being joined by "large numbers of the fighting men of our traditional ally, France."

"On this day, of all days, it is heartening for us to know that soldiers of France go forward with the United Nations."

"American soldiers," he said in his address, "are giving their lives today in all the continents and on all the seas in order that the dream of the unknown soldier may at last come true. All the heroism and all the unquerable devotion that free men and women are showing in this war shall make certain the survival and advancement of civilization."

In a probation setting aside the day, Mr. Roosevelt said that the United Nations again must champion freedom of speech and of worship and freedom from want and fear on the battlefields of the world.

"Faith can be kept with those who died in the first World war," he said, "only by resolutely prosecuting to final victory the great war in which we are now engaged, and by crowning that victory with a peace which shall safeguard and extend these essential freedoms."

capital which Hitler said now could be abandoned for Versailles near Paris.

Head for Toulouse

Vichy reported that another German force had passed Agen, less than 100 miles north of the Pyrenees, headed for Toulouse. British military experts estimated that Hitler had more than 30 divisions—almost a half million men—in from which to send forces south.

Presumably they would be reinforced because of the mounting urgency of the new front.

Besides guarding the back of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken force in Libya, the axis move into Tunisia was regarded as a desperate effort to beat the allies to control of central Mediterranean at its narrowest strait, the 90-mile wide waterline between Sicily and Cape Bon, Tunisia.

One arm of the German forces headed directly toward Marseille, France's major Mediterranean port, and Toulon, her major naval base, by way of Lyon.

Italy in Agreement

Italy said she was in full agreement with Germany on the necessity for this action on the 20th anniversary of the World war armistice, and Fascist forces moved into France.

For Italy, the occupation probably will mean even greater demoralization by the senior axis partner, London diplomatic sources said. Communication lines of the French riviera, however, will aid the axis military movements.

A British military source said that there had been no evidence lately of any reinforcement of the Nazi army in northern France and that this indicated all troops engaged in the new action would be drawn out of the section occupied.

By railway coaches and motor trucks, grey-uniformed units of the Nazi army of the west sped southward across the demarcation line. Contingents moved from near Chatillon-Sur-Saone toward Lyon, the Rhone valley and Marseilles.

An obvious port of destination for a major German force was Toulon, the French naval base which lies but 450 miles across the Mediterranean from allied-occupied Algiers.

Hilter set forth the axis position in two parallel communications.

The President gave no indication of how he would deal with the problem, but the belief was general that he would follow, for the time being at least, the recommendations of the war manpower commission's management-labor policy committee and tighten existing governmental machinery rather than favor compulsory national service legislation.

It seemed apparent to many officials concerned, however, that the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds would not raise anywhere near enough men for all military needs.

Illinois Fighting for Share of Big Ten Crown in Tilt With Ohio State

Ball-Stealing Experts Ready To Tangle with Buckeyes at Municipal Stadium in Cleveland.

By ARNOLD DEBLITZER

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—Illinois had nine big Illinois, grown adept at scoring touchdowns in this manner, only go on to seal a share of the Western Conference football championship this week.

They will meet powerful Ohio State at Cleveland's municipal stadium Saturday and a victory would mean keeping with the surprising Illinois first season under Ray Eliot.

Yet success may depend entirely on a fondness for their pet trick-ball stunts. In virtually every other aspect Ohio State is far above the edge.

Statistics released today by the Big Tenureau showed that the Buckeyes, led by Gene Fickett and Paul Harrington, not only were averaging more than a total yardage a game than Illinois (362 to 176), but excelled at defense, too, where they were second to Minnesota.

Edge On Passing

Only at forward passing did Illinois hold an edge. And this could be attributed to the fact that the Buckeyes, with one of the strongest running games in the nation, often did not need to resort to passes.

That Illinois is now proficient enough at ball grubbing will be apparent Monday of the Turkey Day contest to by both Minnesota, Topps, Gub, Mrs. Robert Morris, and Northwestern. ## FOUNDRY WORKERS STRIKE IN COLUMBUS

40 Per Cent of Plant's Employees Out, CIO Leader Says.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11—John Gwalt, international representative of the CIO United Steel Workers estimated today that 40 per cent of the employees at the Buckeye Steel Castings Co. had joined a strike called in protest against working conditions in the plant.

Gwalt said all departments were affected by the strike called late yesterday, but that there would be no picketing.

E. H. Bonnet, Buckeye vice president, said operations had been curtailed and the war labor board had been asked to intervene. The plant is engaged practically 100 per cent in war work, he added in a statement. Bonnet said,

"A group of Millwrights, together with Mr. Gwalt, organized for the CIO, met with the management and refused to work with several old employees for no other reason than dislike. The company refused to discharge these men for insufficient cause. The committee then walked out on strike and succeeded in taking with them a considerable number of our employees."

The union won a collective bargaining election at the plant last October.

Gwalt said union members had voted to return to work if company officials would meet with CIO representatives to mediate differences.

Allied Blitzkrieg Now Bewilders Germans

AKRON, O., Nov. 11—The German high command is bewildered by the use of Hitler's own blitzkrieg tactics against it, says Louis P. Lochner, chief of The Associated Press bureau in Berlin until the United States went to war.

"The Nazis thought they had a monopoly on the aggressive, quick, moving offensive tactics that are now being used by the American forces in North Africa," the journalist said in a lecture last night.

Lochner said Hitler would not hesitate to use poison gas in a desperate effort to win the war, adding the German dictator twice has tried unsuccessfully to establish a basis for Nazi gas attacks by claiming German soldiers had been gassed.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON CHINA

Rotary's Heroic Stand in War
Reviewed by Ordnance Plant Official.

The democratic nations of the world to China and its people for the contribution made to the war for freedom was made yesterday before members of the Marion Rotary Club in the club's annual meeting at Hotel Marion. The speaker was M. N. Brady, president of the U. S. Rubber company, now at the post of manager of the Sohio Rubber plant. His subject materialized from a close acquaintance with the situation in China and from his work as a member of the United China Relief campaign committee during the three months of this year. Other members of the committee were Wendell Willkie and George H. Dill.

Brady reminded his audience that China was the first民主 nation under the attack of aggressor nations and despite heavy losses of men and equipment continues to play a vital role in the United Nations campaign for victory.

Loyal To U.S.

Marion's faith in the United States firm and continued record of years that this country has supplying Japan with war metal and motor fuel which helped keep the Japanese war machine in operation while it devoured the world.

At the close of his talk, March of Time motion pictures were shown depicting China's industrial and cultural development and demonstrating the courage and fortitude of the Chinese people when under attack from the Japanese invading hordes.

Farewell of Col. Huling

Preceding Mr. Brady's address a farewell talk was given by Col. John Huling Jr., former commanding officer of the Sohio Ordnance Plant, who is leaving for a new army assignment. Col. Huling, a member of the Rotary club, voiced his appreciation for the friendly and cooperative spirit of Marion residents and gave assurance that he was terminating his residence here with sincere regret. Incidentally, he related an account of a visit to his home by Brig. Gen. Doolittle (then Lieut. Doolittle) back in 1922, when Col. Huling was stationed at an army post in New York state. The two army men have been close personal acquaintances.

Cyrus S. Ching of New York City, U. S. Rubber Co. public and labor relations director, was introduced to the audience and spoke briefly. He was the principal speaker last night at the annual Chapter of Commerce banquet.

Other guests were E. F. Gehring, Rotarian from Columbus; Elmer R. Clarkson of Sycamore; John F. Warren of Columbus, and R. A. Garvin, J. E. Oliphant, Harry L. Dowler Marion, Max Harmer, and Charles Harmon of Marion.

Allied Planes Blast Jap Path of Retreat

By The Associated Press

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Nov. 11—Alied troops, fighting a desperate Japanese force in the thick New Guinea jungles around Oivi while allied aircraft attacked the only remaining path of withdrawal for the enemy, are bringing their battle to a decision, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The allied fliers flew up and down the line of Japanese supply and communications between Oivi and Buna on the northeastern New Guinea coast, raking ammunition dumps and troops with machine gun fire and bombing gun positions and supply depots.

The communiqué reported that serious damage was inflicted on the Japanese installations, many guns in the vicinity of the fighting were silenced, and severe casualties were inflicted on Japanese ground troops.

WORLD WAR I HERO TALKS TO HI-Y CLUB

C. W. Stafford is Speaker at Pre-Armistice Day Meeting.

C. W. Stafford, city brazier spoke to the members of the Junior Hi-Y club at a pre-Armistice day meeting Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Stafford, a member of the Rainbow division during World War I, received a distinguished service medal for capturing a German machine gun nest single-handed. He told the group of that and other experiences during the war. He was one of 47 members of the Rainbow division to receive the distinguished service medal. As evidence of his youthful audience's interest in his experiences was a question and answer period of more than 15 minutes following his regular talk.

The meeting was preceded by a potluck supper. Plans were made for a Thanksgiving party the latter part of this month.

Hears Naval Recruiter

When Senior Hi-Y met Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A., Tom Neper was voted in as a new member. Plans are being made for his initiation. Final plans were announced for a hay ride scheduled for Saturday. The program consisted of a speech by C. E. Sither, recruiting officer, on the opportunities in the Navy.

Marion Man Undergoes Amputation Operation

John Wenderl of 705 Silver street underwent an operation at City Hospital last week for the amputation of the left leg below the hip joint. The operation was made necessary by gangrene caused by a diabetic condition. His condition was reported good to day.

13 Enlist in Navy As Cruiser Visits Bucyrus

BUCYRUS, Nov. 11—Thirteen

U. S. Naval enlistments were received by officers in charge of the U. S. Navy recruiting cruiser which visited Bucyrus Monday. All of the recruits were given preliminary examinations and was given conditional acceptance.

Recruits are Harry Cameron, route 2; Calvin Breson Jr., Arthur T. Spencer, Charles R. Sprengel, Thomas W. Kronenberger, Donald J. Neubauer, Jack W. Kanabie, Louis L. Downing, Thomas Spear Jr., Edwin R. Cooper, Fred Ekkelberry Jr., and George H. Cooper, all of Bucyrus, and Harold E. Gibson of route 1, Sycamore.

Because of the abandonment by the League of Nations of broadcasts and the expiration of a contract with the Swiss federal council a new station is to be built on the property of a Swiss concern.

Soldiers From Engineer Camp Knock Truck Into House Guests at Dance

Driver Flees After Crash Off N. Prospect St.

Counts authorities are looking for the driver of a station wagon which plowed off the dead end of North Prospect Street Saturday night, struck a parked truck and knocked it into the house of J. H. Bowman.

It was Bowman's truck that the car hit and it was parked in the driveway of his home at the time of the mishap. The front end rear of the truck was damaged also the front of the car and the foundation of the house, the sheriff's office reported.

The car belonged to Blair Scott, who had been used in recent weeks by George Scott of Quincy.

Mr. Scott reported it was stolen from him Sunday night before the accident.

The driver fled after the crash.

He had been in touch with Axis agents in Cuba and had relayed information regarding United Nations ship movements to agents abroad.

BLACKOUT RULES MADE MORE RIGID

Cities Must Pass Stiff Requirements Before Tests.

At the Associated Press

DETROIT, Nov. 11—Now 11 cities have obtained permission to set up rigid regulations.

Under the new rules, cities are to be given the right to control the amount of German forces there.

The spokesman said that the German invasion had been going on for some little time, but that the Nazi strength there was not known.

At the same time the British radio, based in New York, said

Vichy had broadcast an announcement that Italian Marines had occupied the Tunisian naval base at Bizerte.

Allied submarine and anti-aircraft fire against Italian naval units in the Mediterranean engaged in maneuvers, the nature of which was not disclosed.

The industry said a British submarine scored two torpedo hits in a successful attack on three cruisers and three destroyers of the Italian fleet.

Secretary of the Interior Ikes warned that a cut in the four-gallon value of ration coupons in the east may be necessary, according to The Associated Press.

Ikes issued an extraordinary appeal to eastern motorists, stating that unless civilian comparison is cut voluntarily to the irre-ducible minimum, he could "do no way in which we can supply enough gasoline to maintain the present value of a coupon."

The brief postponement of gasoline rationing in other areas

OPA officials said, will apply also to trucks, tools, and other commercial vehicles in the east, when such vehicles will get "P" ration books instead of the present "S" books. The "S" books will be good until Dec. 1, when the "P" books take effect.

Need Certificates

Before qualifying for the new books, mineral vehicle operators must obtain certificates of war necessity from the Office of Defense Transportation, certifying to their essential mileage and gasoline use. issuance of these has been retarded by laxness of vehicle owners in filing applications, ODT has reported.

An OPA official whose name must be withheld said one of the prime reasons for the general postponement of rationing was the fact that 20 tons of coupon books were held up at the airport in Oakland, Calif., having been denied cargo space priority over shipments of other goods.

Some of these books, it was stated, are now waiting in Oskaloosa, Iowa, and will be shipped to the east

as soon as possible.

French Fleet Would Be Big Help to Allies

By The Associated Press

JUNCTURE of the French fleet with the allies in the Mediterranean probably would bring to the Anglo-American forces three battleships, seven cruisers, a seaplane carrier, 23 destroyers and 22 submarines. On the other hand if they joined axis forces they would be a big boost to Hitler's naval power.

Ships believed based at Toulon include the 26,000-ton battleship Jean Bart, bomb-scarred center of this resistance, was reported afloat off the harbor.

This maritime effort directed by U. S. Rear Admiral H. K.

Hewitt was correlated with infiltration of Casablanca's eastern suburbs by the tank-supported troops commanded by Maj. Gen.

George S. Patton Jr.

Fifteen dispatches from Algiers told of the capture of 800 prisoners without resistance by an armored column which struck at an afrope Sunday.

Four French Dewoitine planes

hoving high over the field swooped to attack and downed one U. S. fighter, but three of them were shot down. The field was taken over by the U. S. Split-fire squadron of the 12th air force, commanded by Brig. Gen.

James H. Doolittle.

French civilians and Arab aliens were described as friendly

American troops shared their click-arts.

American contingents evidently were well on their way toward Lisbon, the last territory of Italy's African empire. Vichy and Berlin accounts of continuing operations in Algeria were without immediate confirmation.

Other Reports

These included reports of fighting at Oranville, midway between Oran and Algiers, and at Blida, 28 miles inland from the capital; announcement of an armored column which struck at an afrope Sunday.

Mrs. Eliza McCleod Dies Near Ashley

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, Nov. 11—Mrs. Fredricka McCleod, 76, died at 3 o'clock this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Carlis of southeast of Ashley, after an illness of several months. She had been a resident of Ashley for the past 14 years, having come from Cleveland.

Surviving are the husband,

Eliza McCleod, three brothers,

George and William Carlis of Cleveland, and Clarence Rose of Cleveland, and two sisters, Mrs.

New Haven, Conn.

NO OHIO PROBLEMS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—A social security board attack today to investigate Ohio's old age pension system would be "superfluous" because it apparently stemmed from the recent gubernatorial election campaign in the state.

The officials who disclosed use of the money said the board did not expect to have a formal statement on the matter.
